House fire quelled

LYNDHURST -

Residents of a one-family house on Fourth St. in Lyndhurst were safely evacuated during a fire that broke out in the early morning on Monday, Feb. 16, authorities said.

Police Capt. John Valente said an alarm of fire was received by police at 4:23 a.m. for 425 Fourth St., prompting a response by the Lyndhurst Volunteer Fire Department.

Patrol officers arriving soon after reported heavy smoke coming from the front door and township volunteer firefighters quickly doused the fire which was confined mostly to the basement, Valente said.

Valente said the fire appears to have started from faulty wiring connected to a basement clothes dryer and some flames apparently traveled inside a wall up to a kitchen area.

Firefighters had the fire extinguished and cleanup operations begun within an hour, with assistance from the North Arlington Volunteer Fire Department's F.A.S.T. team while Rutherford provided a pumper to stand-by at Lyndhurst Fire HQ, Valente said.

"Damage to the residence could have been much worse if not for the fact that the intense heat caused a copper water pipe to separate, burst and almost act as a sprinkler, helping to keep the fire at bay prior to Fire Department arrival," he noted.

As of Monday, Valente said, residents were being temporarily housed with family members.

Lehigh names Youssef orientation coordinator

Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., recently recognized Rebecca Youssef of Nutley for her role as orientation coordinator. Orientation coordinators are an integral part of the development, planning and execution of a four-day first year student orientation. Students who serve as OCs are called upon, for nearly nine months, to volunteer their time to ensure first year students acclimate to Lehigh's campus in their transition to college. Their role in this important program is vital to the entirety of the campus community.

Orientation coordinators (OCs) are students who have previously served as orientation leaders and have been selected to fulfill a more demanding leadership role on campus. Orientation coordinators assist the director and assistant director of the Office of the First-Year Experience to recruit, select, and train a staff of 70 orientation leaders and plan a four-day orientation. Through this process, the OCs develop skills in facilitation, program planning and team building.
